

Big Pulp Spring 2012: The Biggin Hill Duel

A modern amalgam of the classic newsstand of the golden age of pulp and popular fiction, Big Pulp publishes exciting, challenging and thought-provoking fiction and poetry by the best emerging and established genre writers from around the world. This collection begins with The Biggin Hill Duel, a steampunk mystery starring a detective with a keen sense of ratiocination by Adrian Ludens. We follow that up with a 2nd steampunk tale, the horror thriller Rat Trap by Barb Siples. Also featured are To Right A Wrong by Devyani Borade, in which an ancient sadhu offers a mysterious cure for alcoholism to an Indian village, and The Hunt by Argentine writer Gustavo Arevalo Rendall. Continuing our trip around the world, we discover A Serpent in Eden, a cozy mystery set in an English village by Heather Parker, and meet Our Mutual Friend, a tale of a ghost wandering a Mexican city, by Rochelle Cashdan. K.J. Kabza takes us unicorn-hunting in The Idiot and John F.D. Taff brings us back to the present, where were stalked by a Night Bird. This collection also features fiction by Tim Lieder, publisher of Dybbuk Press; poetry by Terrie Leigh Relf, author of hundreds of published science fiction and horror poems and editor of Hungur Magazine; and more science fiction, horror, mystery, romance and fantasy stories and poems from Murphy Edwards, John Grey, Guy Belleranti, John F.D. Taff, Kent Rosenberger, Terrie Leigh Relf, Thomas Farringer-Logan, Robert Laughlin, David C. Kopaska Merkel & Kendall Evans, Skylar Hamilton Burris, T.N. Collie, Robyn Ritchie, Alex Gorman, and James F.W. Rowe.
